Demonstrate confidence when briefing (un)responsive Force Commander

2

Competencies assessed by the Force Commander

- Quality of speech
- Logic
- Assurance

Competencies assessed by facilitators

- Link between hyper-masculinity and identity
- Role of women as agents for change in Mai-Mai groups
- Identification of gatekeepers of social norms

MONUSCO – Disarmament, Demobilisation and Reintegration (DDR) of Mai -Mai combattants

The Military Force Commander of the United Nations Stabilisation Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (MONUSCO) requests your suggestions for the military contingent to implement place modes of action for the DDR of Mai-Mai groups.

Presentation of the following offices:

- U2 - Military Intelligence
- U3 - Operations
- U4 - Logistics
- U9 - Civil-Military Cooperation
- Information Operations
- Military Gender Advisor

- Quality of delivery – Use clear, jargon-free language appropriate to the audience and free from bias
- Logic – The argument presented is in a sequence that allows for a tangible understanding of the problem and solutions
- Confidence – Do the presenters understand their presentation and demonstrate confidence in explaining their arguments?

MONUSCO teams: What behaviours do you aim to reinforce and change with your proposed courses of action?

Have we considered the following:

- Mai-Mai identity is linked to hyper-masculinity and hyper-virility.
- The role of the Merida (Mai-Mai women) in modifying the behaviour and use of violence within Mai-Mai groups.
- The guardians of social norms within the Mai-Mai.

Christelle's story

How might the following irrational behaviours studied in Lesson 3.1 impact the proposed courses of action during the Force Commander's morning briefing?

1. Importance of rituals to regain control
2. People must be actively involved in creating solutions (meaningful participation)

Considering the two positive thoughts about failure, identify how you will apply them when developing and implementing your military gender strategy.

This may include contingency plans if you are wrong about the likely behaviour of your target audience.

You can learn from your mistakes to improve.

You never lose: either you win or you learn.

There is never a failure, there are only experiences.

It is by trying again and again that skill is acquired, and intelligence is developed.

It takes courage to accept that you are imparted.

Reflection is at least as much about asking questions as it is about providing answers.

You don't understand yet and you have the power to do everything to understand soon.

You have failed so you need to find another way.

There is rarely one way to answer a question, but many ways to arrive at the same solution or another solution that has not yet been explored.

Objective 1: Demonstrate confidence when briefing FC or military personnel.

Objective 2: Develop a narrative illustrating the military gender strategy with a clear purpose.

Objective 3: Reflect on their approach to develop convincing strategies.

Objective 4: Examine powerful ways to build trust and commitment.

Objective 5: Practice negotiation techniques to reach a consensus on different opinions and arguments.

Objective 6: Create a working environment that facilitates dialogue and collaboration.

Objective 7: Develop definitions of meaningful participation and the enabling environment for the MGA strategy.

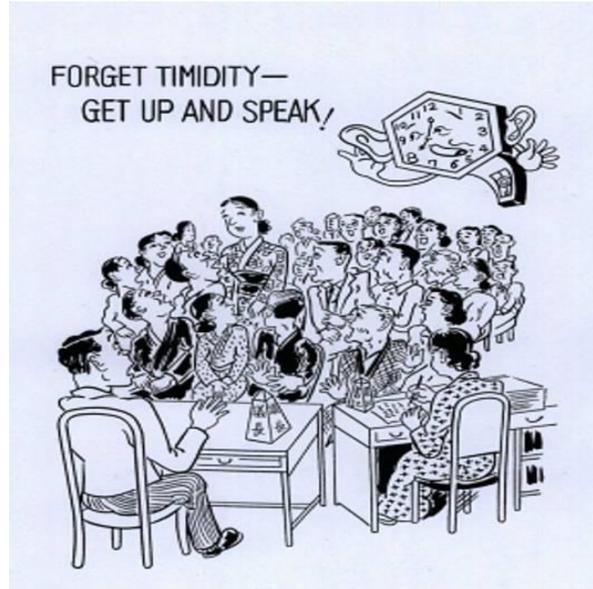

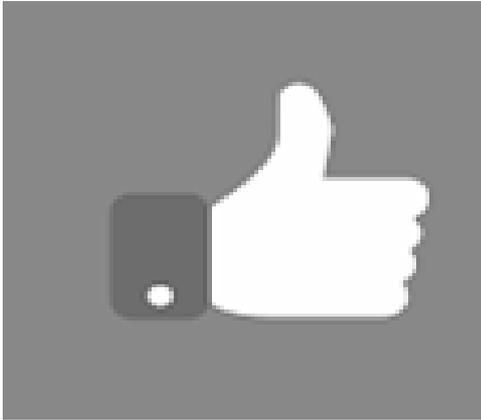

Objective 8: Compare tools and techniques to facilitate the development of a gender-inclusive military strategy.

Objective 9: Practice SWOT with a UN Military component.

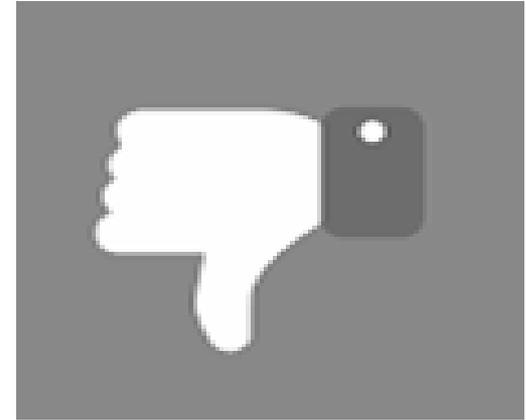

Objective 10: Develop tasks and coordination mechanisms in a military gender strategy.

Meaningful participation

Enabling environment

Meaningful participation implies that “women not only be present, but that their concerns are heard and taken on board, they have the opportunity to articulate their contributions and expertise, to ensure that gender perspectives and analyses inform and shape peace processes and that outcomes benefit the whole of society”.

<https://www.unwomen.org/sites/default/files/Headquarters/Attachments/Sections/Library/Publications/2021/Increasing-womens-participation-in-mediation-processes-en.pdf>

Elsie Initiative defines "meaningful participation"

“Meaningful participation is demonstrated by the presence and leadership of women in UN peace operations, across all ranks and functions. Women can participate meaningfully: when they contribute to, and are included in, all aspects of operational and mission planning, and decision-making processes; when they hold operational command and leadership positions, and non-traditional as well as non-stereotypical roles; when they have access to the same training, promotion and career advancement opportunities as their colleagues who are men; when they hold positions that are in line with their training, rank and area of expertise; when their workplace is free from all forms of harassment, bullying and intimidation.”

Security Council report S/PV.8508 (2019) defines "enabling environment" as:

- A responsive UN mission environment for all peacekeepers, considering the particular physical, social and cultural needs of all genders.
- A non-hostile environment for women, thereby mitigating the frequency of incidents of gender -based violence, acts of hatred against women across contingents, and incidents of sexual exploitation and abuse.

Strategy – Choosing to learn through failure

What might also happen during implementation of the strategy

Deviance
Someone chooses not to follow the plan or does not know the plan

Lack of capacity
Someone does not have the skills or training to carry out the plan

Challenge the task
Someone does not have the time or tools to carry out the plan

Uncertainty
The plan is based on a need for more clarity about future events, which leads people to take seemingly reasonable actions that produce undesirable results.

Exploratory tests
The design is an experiment conducted to expand knowledge and investigate a possibility leading to an undesirable outcome.

Inattention
Someone inadvertently deviates from the specifications or does not remember the plan

Process mismatch
Someone adheres to a prescribed but flawed or incomplete plan.

Complexity of the processes
The plan has many moving parts.

Hypothesis testing
The plan is an experiment conducted to prove that an idea or design will succeed or fail.
