UN Engagement Platoon Reinforcement Training of Trainers Course

Aim and Objectives:

The United Nations Engagement Platoon (UN-EP) Reinforcement Training Package Training of Trainers Course in Brindisi, Italy is the second roll-out of the training material with the aim of strengthening the capacity of the Member States (MS) to deliver the training package for Engagement Platoons. The training programme will allow participants to improve their training delivery skills and enable direct interactions with the officers from ITS and other MS.

Target Audience:

The target audience of this reinforcement training package is personnel identified as staff officers, platoon commanders and soldiers who during their UN deployment may be assigned to, employ, coordinate or perform missions within the UN-EP. The audience for this RTP package also includes military decision makers, leaders, staffs, and soldiers at the tactical level from sector headquarters to company level. Additionally, military leadership from member states at their national peacekeeping training institutions, course directors, and instructors of military schools will also benefit from these materials and from the training guidance.
